

“I am much more confident in my faith now, and I feel that I have more direction.”

Nathan, University of Wisconsin

Laura’s and my vision for the 13 students and 8 staff that came to Crush Fear was to see ourselves joyfully taking risks for the expansion of God’s kingdom. And we saw it! Students came from 5 states and varying levels of faith, but they all experienced joy seeking first the Kingdom of God together.

Laura and I led the students to take God-glorifying risks like going on a mini-missions trip to the Navajo nation in NM, rappelling off of cliffs, sharing the Gospel message with people in public, solo camping in the wilderness, a full day leadership hike, and target shooting. All the “fun” experiences were done to illustrate biblical truth that complimented the 2 weeks of teaching and training in the Great Commission. The Master Plan staff team we got to lead was excellent, and God used the team to prepare students to reach and influence the world for Christ! Here is what some students said:

"I have learned so much about God and grew in my relationship with Him... and He gave me a desire for the Great Commission." Danielle-Wayne State College, NE

"This project gave me confidence about sharing my faith and renewed my passion for Christ! I learned ways to practically share my faith and got great resources." Avery, CMU Grand Junction

"[Crush Fear]has made me more comfortable sharing the gospel and teaching in discipleship" Nick, MSU Denver

Most of the students got to share the message of the Gospel with someone during evangelism times, and students saw 5 people indicate decisions for Christ! To see more Crush Fear Photos and a great 3 minute highlight video, go to TheKrokosFamily.com
